COMMUNITY NEWS UPDATE

Message From the President & CEO

As we move through the summer season, I want to take a moment to thank our staff, volunteers, donors, partners and community members for their continued support of SOURCES and the people we serve.

This edition of our newsletter highlights our mission in action through community outreach, cultural events, program developments, client achievements and staff milestones. Each story reflects not only the services we provide, but also the relationships, collaboration and care that make this work possible.

I'm also delighted to welcome Amanda McNally to SOURCES as our new Executive Director, Philanthropy & Communications. Amanda brings extensive experience, strong community connections and a genuine commitment to the not-for-profit sector. I am confident she will be a tremendous addition to our leadership team as we continue to strengthen our relationships, expand our reach and deepen SOURCES' impact across British Columbia.

I hope you enjoy this update and have the opportunity to spend time with loved ones and enjoy a safe and restorative summer.

SUPPORTING TEMPORARY FOREIGN WORKERS

Care, Assistance, Resources, and Employment Support (CARES) program has been actively supporting Temporary Foreign Workers (TFWs) through community outreach, information sessions and one-on-one support across Surrey and Langley. At the World Refugee Day Information Fair, the team connected with newcomers and migrant workers, answered questions about employment rights, work permits, and settlement services, and shared information about the supports available through SOURCES. The team also attended a panel discussion on Bill C-12 to learn more about proposed changes to Canada's refugee and asylum system.

FOUNDRY DEVELOPMENT TEAM OUT IN THE SUN

The Foundry South Surrey-White Rock team has been busy raising awareness about their upcoming youth centre. The team engaged with children and families at Alex Fest, connected with community partners at the Surrey Fire Fighters Charitable Society Golf Tournament and the Semiahmoo Rotary Charity Golf Tournament. Special thanks to Society Board member Emily Kearns for supporting these community outreach efforts!

POSITIVE BEHAVIOUR & KEYWORKER PROGRAM UPDATE

The program has moved to Unit 102 in the Newton Resources Centre. Program Manager Yanina Savenko extends her thanks to Housing Program Manager Jay Blaschuk and Support Worker Georgina for their help and warm welcome.

LIFE SKILLS CENTRE UPDATE: A MEMORABLE BC GETAWAY

Life Skills Instructor Antoinette Parker supports adults with developmental disabilities and other challenges to become independent. Recently, she arranged a three-day, two-night supported vacation for two individuals who live in the community.

The getaway gave them an opportunity to experience some of British Columbia's most scenic destinations, including Squamish Canyon, the Whistler Land Rover Bear Tour and Whistler Village. Along the way, they explored new places, tried different foods and enjoyed time away together.

For both individuals, this trip provided experiences that may not otherwise have been possible. They were especially appreciative of Antoinette's thoughtful planning and support throughout the vacation.

One of the highlights still to come is a photo book Antoinette is creating to capture the memories of their adventure. It will give both men a meaningful way to look back on the trip and share their experience with others.

Antoinette has been with Sources since 1998 and continues to demonstrate the value of person-centred support in action. By creating opportunities that reflect each individual's interests, goals and abilities, she helps people build confidence, independence and connection in their communities.

WELCOME TO THE TEAM

AMANDA
McNALLY

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR
PHILANTHROPY & COMMUNICATIONS

We are pleased to welcome Amanda McNally as our new Executive Director, Philanthropy & Communications, effective September 28, 2026.

Amanda joins SOURCES with more than 20 years of experience in the not-for-profit sector, including progressive leadership and management roles in fundraising, communications, strategic planning, and community engagement. Throughout her career, she has built meaningful partnerships, inspired high-performing teams, and advanced initiatives that strengthen organizations while creating lasting community impact.

Most recently, Amanda served for six years as Executive Director of Peace Arch Hospice Society, where she guided the organization through a period of strategic growth, expanded fundraising efforts, and strengthened community relationships. Prior to that, she spent 10 years with the Canadian Cancer Society in roles focused on program strategy, fundraising, and community engagement.

As Executive Director, Philanthropy & Communications, Amanda will provide strategic leadership for the organization's fundraising, marketing, communications, donor engagement, and public relations initiatives. Working closely with Sources Foundation, community partners, donors, volunteers, and staff, she will help strengthen the philanthropic support and public awareness that enable the agency to deliver essential programs and services across British Columbia.

"We are excited to welcome Amanda to our executive leadership team," said David MacIntyre, President & CEO of SOURCES. "Amanda brings a collaborative approach, strategic perspective, and a genuine passion for strengthening communities. Her experience in philanthropy, communications, and relationship-building will help us continue expanding our impact and ensuring we can meet the evolving needs of the people and communities we serve."

Please join us in welcoming Amanda to the SOURCES team. We look forward to the experience, passion, and leadership she will bring as we continue our mission of building stronger, healthier communities.

OUR JOURNEYS, OUR STORIES

NATIONAL INDIGENOUS PEOPLE'S DAY

Staff from Sources Prince George Resource Centre attended a cultural event at Kiwanis Bowl Bandshell located in the Lheidli T'enneh Memorial Park.

Our Prince George office is located on the traditional territory of the Lheidli T'enneh First Nation. The event provided an opportunity for staff to honour and celebrate the cultures, traditions, histories and contributions of First Nations, Inuit and Métis Peoples.

It was also a meaningful reminder of the importance of listening, learning and continuing to strengthen relationships with Indigenous communities in the spirit of reconciliation.
